Our weekly budget template has been created to help you allocate a budget for one week or a two weeks for various expenses at the beginning of the week and then calculate the difference at the end of the week or even at the end of the month. You can assign a budget for one week or two weeks, and record the actual amount used for each category during the week. This difference between the allocated budget and the actual budget gives the total expenses incurred. You can easily allocate the budget to a category of expenses and record the actual costs incurred for that category during the number of weeks in the month. This can vary between four or five weeks.Each expense is populated to calculate the expected final balance weekly. The spreadsheet allows you to record all types of payments or expenses. We recommend that you update this sheet regularly to monitor the actual costs incurred against the estimated costs in order to plan your weekly budget correctly. The expenses section records different types of expenses incurred, such as Home, Daily Living, Transportation, etc. The Bi-Weekly spreadsheet provides the bi-Weekly summary and also calculates the budget and expenses incurred for all four weeks.
