Its intuitive area-by-zone programming allows you to set different irrigation times for each area of the courtyard, providing more ecological results with less water. When you turn the dial to each area, you can easily set custom days of the week, odd days or even, or a number of days of cycle independent from all other areas. You can also set up up to four custom irrigation times a day to water slopes and clay soils in short intervals to allow water to be absorbed and avoid drains. The settings of each area can be quickly checked with easy-to-read LED indicator lights. Warranty If a buyer of any new product Rain Bird is not satisfied with it for any reason, you can return it to the retailer where you bought it within a reasonable time for a full refund. Rain Bird's obligation is limited to this refund for any product that does not meet the buyer's expectations. Apart from its policy of satisfaction, there are no guarantees for the consumer Rain Bird express or implied, nor Rain Bird will be liable for any economic or consequential damage. 1 Set the left edge fixed on the sprinkler head. Before adjusting the direction or distance of irrigation, you will need to set the starting point for water rotation. Find the center cover in the rotor box. Move to the right until it stops and you can't turn it anymore. Then move it to the left until it stops. Rotate the entire rotor box to align the left edge in the correct position. [1] Do not rotate the rotor case beyond the left edge, as this may damage the case. The instructions for setting the left edge of the fixation will work for the Rain Bird 2SA, 42SA, 42SA+, 52SA Series. 2 Move the sprinkler head by hand to adjust the direction of irrigation. Grasp the head of the spray between two fingers. Then, turn it by hand, so it is directed to the direction you want the water to be pulverized. [2] For example, if you want the water to be sprayed to the right, turn your head to the right. If you want the water to spray further to the left, turn your head to the left. 3 Adjust the spray distance using a flat-coloured screwdriver. You can have the water on or off when you adjust the spray distance, although it may be easier with the water off. Take a flat screwdriver and attach it to the center screw on the head. Then, twist the screw to decrease the spray distance by up to 25 percent. [3] Be careful not to turn the screw so far as it goes on the head. You should sit right in front of the mouthpiece so your head is safe. The spray distance on Rain Bird models is 19 to 32 feet (5.8 to 9.8 m). If you want the distance to be higher or shorter, you will need to change the rotor nozzles or adjust the water pressure. 1 Twist the necklace to the left or right if you have a of adjustable wrinkler. If you have a Rain bird sprinkler model that has an adjustable head (the 18/15/12 AP series), you can use your fingers to twist your neck. It can be adjusted from 0-360 degrees. Increase the Patron, move the threaded necklace to the left. To decrease the spray pattern, move the threaded collar to the right. [4] Adjust the spray pattern while the sprinkler is on so that you can determine how much of an increase or decrease you want. Adjusting the spray pattern is useful if you want to water a certain area of your lawn or spray it only to a certain extent in your garden. 2 Find the adjustable tab if you have the Rain Bird 2SA, 42SA, 42SA + or 52SA series. These models have an adjustable eyelash for the spray pattern on the top of the head. The eyelash will have a plus and minus symbol. [5] There will also be a screw in the center of the plus and minus symbol. 3 Adjust the Adjustable ARC tab with a screwdriver. Take a flat-head screwdriver. Place it on the screw at the top of the head. Then, twist the screw towards the more symbol, or clockwise, to increase the spray pattern. To decrease the spray pattern, turn the screw to the minus symbol, or to the left. [6] 1 Turn off the sprinkler. Make sure the sprinkler is not connected to running water. This will make you change the nozzle of sprinklers. [7] You may want to change the spray nozzle if it stops working properly. You can also remove the nozzle and check the filter screen if the water is dripping or not spraying properly. Then you can clean it or change it. 2 Turn the nozzle with the pliers. Use pliers to grab the nozzle. Then, turn the nozzle to the left, or to the left, to unscrew the nozzle from the sprinkler head. [8] 3 Remove the screen from the filter underneath the nozzle. Look at the head of the sprinkler. You should see a small filter screen on your head, underneath where the nozzle sits. Use your small fingers or pliers to carefully remove the screen from the filter. [9] 4 Clean or replace the filter screen, depending on your condition, any dirt, debris or build-up on the filter screen. You can choose to rinse the debris with water to clean the filter screen and reuse it if it is still in good condition. . [10] If the Screen is old or in an assure way, replace it with a new one. You can buy filter screens for the Rain Bird spindle at your local or online hardware store. You can use a standard filter screen for all Rain Bird wrinkle models, 5 Place the filter screen on the sprayer head. Once you have cleaned or replaced the filter screen, put it on the head of the sprayer. [11] 6 Put the new nozzle. Use pliers to place the new nozzle on the sprinkler head. Then, turn right, or on the clock, until I'm sure. [12] You can buy a new linen nozzle or at your local hardware store. Look for the Rain Bird nozzle that matches the Rain Bird Sprinkler model you have.
