7. I called the LAPD station in Tarzana, and filed a missing persons report. Jade also filed a in-person report. Paula did make a call to a friend on July 31 that was traced to a pay phone at LAX. She also rented a car from Avis at LAX, and returned it on Thursday, August 2. LAX police found Paula's car parked outside the United terminal on August 1.

8. I also knew that Paula had been seeing a hypnotherapist, Jerry Zeiger, in the Bay Area. I found his phone number through a link on Paula's website, and spoke with him on August 1. He said he had last seen Paula a couple of Thursdays prior, and that she seemed "a little more paranoid than normal," but nothing along the lines of what Jade had reported.

9. I spoke with Jade again on August 3, and she stated that Paula had returned to the house with a yellow Mustang convertible on Wednesday and said her own car was in the shop. She left in the Mustang and returned on Thursday, August 2, driving her own car. Jade said Paula was pretty much keeping to herself, but that she had given notice to move out at the end of August.

10. I continued to call and e-mail Paula, with no response. Her cell phone voice mailbox was full by this time and remained so. Gail flew out on August 23 to see Paula. She stayed through the morning of August 26. During her stay, she tried to borrow Paula's cell phone and computer, but Paula insisted that neither was working. A friend, Beth, did receive two short e-mails from Paula on the 23rd, which said that Gail had arrived and
