Whether you're traveling for business, pleasure or something in between, moving around a new city can be hard and scary if you don't have the right information. In today's digital world, you've got all the information right there at your fingertips, especially if you've downloaded one of these ten innovative apps that will help you get around. Best of all, every app is available for both iOS and Android devices. iExitDo you enjoy making road trips (or do you have to take them for work)? If so, you can't spend another day without iExit. When you're driving along a major interstate and you're looking for a gas station, some kind of restaurant, welcome center, bathroom, hotel, hospital, drug store or any other place where you may need to make it stop, you can just pull it up and find it. The app breaks every output on most major interstate in the United States. CC0/KatieBetaToday/Pixabay Google Maps has been around for years, but it still reigns supreme when it comes to getting around the city. Find out what kind of public transport is available in the area, what points of interest are nearby and also how crowded are those restaurants and shops you want to visit at that particular time. Get directions to your next destination, and find out how long it will take to get there by car, foot, public transit or bike. CC0/Publicco/Pixabay Mobile Passport Anyone travelling internationally would like to download the Mobile Passport app. Use your phone to scan passport information and you can skip customs lines. While i226; 128;s are licensed for use by U.S. customs, keep in mind that they are only accepted at about 24 airports, and you must be a U.S. or Canadian citizen, although these numbers are sure to grow. FLIO one really expects a delayed flight, but if you find yourself enjoying a stopover, FLIO can help you navigate the airport for everything you need to stay comfortable. Learn how to use Wi-Fi, Wi-Fi, The rooms are, what there is to eat in the area and how to get there a place between other important information.
